Double Patenting

Claims 1, 2, 8 and 9; claims 10, 12-14, and 22; and claims 1- 4, 6-15, 17-19 and 22 are rejected under the judicially created doctrine of obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over either claims 1 or 13; claim 15; or claim 17, respectively, of U.S. Patent No. 6,305,162. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because all the limitations of the instant claims are found in the above claims of the patent. Note that the "means" of claim 17 include the disclosed means and equivalent elements, with the disclosed "means" meeting the limitations of the above claims. Note that the apparatus of claim 17 includes means for performing all of the steps of the method claims.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. § 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(f) he did not himself invent the subject matter sought to be patented.

Claims 1, 2, 5, 7-14, and 16-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Devier et al. Note that the rotational speed of the pump () is used to generate the actual pump flow (Q) and the actual pump flow (Q) is compared to the requested pump flow to determine the relationship between the valve command and the operator input (discussed e.g. column 5 line 1-68).

Claims 1-4, 6-15, 17-19 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. § 102(f) as being clearly anticipated by Cobo et al (6,305,162). It would appear that the sole inventor of the instant application is not the inventor of the subject matter of the above claims; since the sole inventor of the instant application is not listed as one of the inventors of Cobo et al, even though both are owned by Caterpillar; and the limitations of the above claims are disclosed in Cabo et al.
